Our fees include:

- All correspondence with clients, be that face to face, via telephone or email.
- Corresponding on behalf of our client with third parties, including the Home Office.
- Exploration of case, preparation and submission of application forms and supporting documentation, time spent working on a case.
- Copies of documentation, postage of any documents.
- Ensuring clients are kept fully up to date with the progression of their case.

Our fees do not include:

- Home Office application fees. We do not control these fees; they are set by the UK government. Clients will pay these fees directly to the Home Office; we will not do this on behalf of clients.

- Other expenses which may be applicable to your case, such as payments for expert evidence.
- Interpreter fees
- Official translation fees

* It is our practise not to take on Asylum cases, fresh claims or further asylum submissions due to the availability of Legal Aid for these matters.
